

What happens Next... When ODP Tryout are over.

Good [Morning/Afternoon/Evening], Everyone!

Although we have yet to hold the 3rd ODP Tryout, we feel it is important to get you as much information as possible in order for families to look at their future calendar and commitments. Please note, this is only an overview, the Player Pool Invite Packet will have more detail and specific information.

Pool Announcement:

No later than September 20th, the Pool rosters will be announced for each gender and age group. Each State Pool will include approximately 30–60 players, depending on the depth of talent. Goalkeepers will be counted within this number; however, we plan to continue the specialized Goalkeeper Training Program within ODP. This means that additional goalkeepers will be carried in the pool to ensure ongoing development for this group of players.

More details will be included in the Player Pool Invite packet, which will be sent to all players selected for the State Pools. The packet will provide information on:

- Player Fundraising Program
- Player Kit (Uniform and Training Gear)
- Training Schedule
- Travel Forms
- Final Event Calendar
- Team Communications
- Passports
- Travel Procedures
- And more

I think this is a great time to share a preview of what's ahead for State ODP and the exciting opportunities you can look forward to this season.

ODP Pool Training:

ODP training will begin on October 12th at Mistlin Sports Park | 1201 River Rd. Ripon

All pools will train at this location unless you are otherwise notified. All training Schedules will be posted on your TeamSnap calendar page where you can also log on your attendance. TeamSnap teams will be assigned shortly after the pools are announced. The complete training schedule, times and field assignments will be in the Player Pool Invite Packet.

Keeper Training will begin on the same date/location additional information will be included in the Player Pool Invite Packet.

Why International Soccer Travel?

For young athletes, few opportunities can match the growth, inspiration, and unforgettable memories that come from traveling abroad to compete against teams from other countries. International soccer trips are more than just games in a new location — they're life-changing experiences that shape players both on and off the field.

1. Raising the Level of Play

When players face international competition, they are challenged by new tactics, skill sets, and styles of play they may never see at home. They learn to adapt quickly, think faster, and rise to the occasion against talented opponents. Competing abroad pushes athletes to a higher standard, sharpening their skills and mental toughness.

2. Building Confidence and Independence

Traveling as part of a team without parents nearby encourages players to step up, take responsibility, and solve problems on their own. Whether it's navigating a new city, managing their schedule, or communicating with someone who speaks another language, these moments build independence and self-assurance that carry into every part of life.

3. Immersing in a New Culture

International trips allow players to experience the world in a way that no classroom or tourist visit can. They'll share meals, traditions, and conversations with people from another culture — often realizing that soccer is a universal language that connects us all. Along the way, they'll visit historic sites, taste new foods, and gain a deeper appreciation for life outside their own community.

4. Creating Lasting Bonds and Memories

Traveling together brings players closer than ever. From celebrating goals to exploring famous landmarks, these shared adventures create friendships and memories that last a lifetime. Players return home with stories they'll tell for years, and a stronger sense of unity with their teammates.

5. Opening Doors for the Future

International play can also open opportunities for the future, from connecting with coaches and scouts to adding a standout experience on college applications. More importantly, it inspires young athletes to dream bigger, work harder, and imagine new possibilities for their game and their lives.

This is a powerful investment in your child's development, confidence, and future. The skills they gain, the cultures they experience, and the memories they create will stay with them forever.

The Olympic Development Program (ODP) offers soccer players a unique opportunity to grow both on and off the field. By participating, players are challenged to compete with and against the top talent in their age group, which raises their technical, tactical, and mental performance to higher levels. They receive expert coaching and exposure to advanced training environments that mirror collegiate, professional, and international standards. Beyond player development, ODP provides invaluable pathways to regional and national team selection, opening doors to college recruiting and future playing opportunities. Just as important, players build lifelong friendships, learn discipline, and gain confidence by pushing themselves in a highly competitive yet supportive environment.
